INITIATIVE SOUGHT FOR COUNTY REDISTRICTING

Burlingame City Council Endorses Move To Place County Representation Before Residents

The people of San Mateo county will be given an opportunity to decide for themselves whether or not the present divsion into supervisorial districts is satisfactory, if plans of the Burlingame city council are carried to fruition. The council by a resolution passed on Monday endorsed an initiative plan which will place the matter before the people in the event that the county board of supervisors refuses to accede to the demands of those who are demanding a new division.

The present plan is to resort to an intiative. Twice the proponents of a redivision of the county have met with defeat; once when a mandamus acton was sought to compel the board to divide the county on a more equal basis, the second time when the joint judiciary committee of the state legislature tabled assembly bill 1080, whch had been sponsored by the Burlingame chamber of commerce, and whch would have resulted in the division sought by the present initiative. This bill was tabled as being of only local importance and it was suggested that the initiative be invoked to remedy the situation.

The resoution as passed by the Burlingame city council reads as follows:

"Whereas, we believe that great inequality of governmental representation of county affairs, exists in the county of San Mateo, in adhering to the antiquated pan of the supervisorial districts now existing, and which plan is an abuse of a republican form of government, and

"Whereas, we believe that this abuse should be corrected if the rights of the electors of the county of San Mateo are to be counted for anythng.

Now therefore, be it resolved by the city council of the city of Burlingame that the requests of our citizens for this council to endorse the movement to invoke the initiative to bring about the results of an equitable redistricting of the supervisorial districts of the county of San Mateo be granted, and that this council does now endorse such a movement by our citizens of the county, pledging our support in their effort to bring about a successful conclusion."

This petition will be circulated among the people of the county for signatures. It will be necessary to secure as signers 20 percent of the registered voters at the last gubernatorial election, or about 3200 names. The petition will then be filed with the county clerk for verification of the signatures, and when passed will go the board of supervisors, who must either pass it as it stands or submit it to the people of the county at a special election.

The county is at present divided into five supervisorial districts, two of which are on the coastside and three on the bay side of the county. This arrangement was made early in the history of the county and has been changed little since that time. From time to time slight changes have been made, the last being on April 1, 1901.

The fact that the bay side of the county has experienced a growth out of all proportion to that of the coastside has made the representation on the board of supervisors quite unequal, as it takes about twenty times as many people to elect three supervsors here as it takes to elect two from the coast. For this reason the residents of this side of the county have for years sought an adjustment.

However, to secure action by the board of supervisors a two-third vote is required. As the change would inevitablely mean the loss of one supervisor to the coastside, and as there are only five members on the board with two from the district which would be adversely affected, a sufficient majority is quite unlikely.

In September, 1927, an action of mandamus was brought in the superior court here by Frederick Peterson of Burlingame to compel the board to redistrict the county. This was heard before Judge J. R. Welch of Santa Clara county.

District Attorney Franklin Swart filed a demurrer to the complaint, and this demurrer was sustained by Judge Welch, he denying the petition. Peterson's attorneys later carried the case to the supreme court on appeal, but the judgment of the Santa Clara judge was sustained by the higher court.

Pioneer of County Laid to Rest Here

One of the oldest pioneers of the county passed away Saturday at the Community hospital with the death of Malcolm B. Boyd, well-known rancher of Woodside.

Boyd had been a resident of this section since early boyhood. He was born in San Francisco in 1850, but came to San Mateo county with his parents who engaged in ranching here.

As a boy he attended the primitive school of which Chase Littlejohn of this city is one of the few remaining pupils. His brother, Charles Boyd, was a member of the crew of the ill-fated schooner C. E. Long, whch was sunk off the mouth of Redwood creek in the middle '60s with all hands aboard. Boyd was also a brother of the late Mary Shine of Woodside.

Services were held Monday at the parlors of Layng & Tinney and were conducted by Rev. Ralph Smith of Menlo Park. Interment was in Union cemetery.

The Women's Recreational Club, composed of members of the women's evening gymnasium class, have announced May 4 as the date for their next social dance. The club has given several of these affairs and all have been most enjoyable.

Sad Passing of Sequoia Youth

The entire community was saddened last week by the untimely death of a young man of character and standing, whose future seemed assured, and whose death leaves many a vacancy in the manifold activities in which he was engaged both in school and without. Wendell Peterson, leader in a score of school activities, and classed as one of the most outstanding students of the Sequoia Union High School, passed away early Friday morning at the Community Hospital. He had been ill but a few days with pneumonia.

Wendell Peterson, it had been said, had more frends than any other student at the high school. He stood high in his school work, and in many lines of endeavor set a mark which will be hard to match. He was considered the best debater in the school. He was the editor of the Sequoia Times, the school paper, which has scored such a brilliant success among school journals.

Among his fellow students, Peterson was a favorite due to his unselfish devotion to the school and his generosity toward those with whom he came in contact. When the Sequoia Times entered the national contest of school papers and it was proposed to send him to New York, together with Miss Eunice Schmidt, the faculty advisor, and Stanley Netherton, Jr., the business manager, Wendell Peterson declined the trip because the date conflicted with a debate which had been scheduled and he felt that his first duty lay with his school even if it meant a sacrifice for himself.

Funeral services for the young man were held Monday afternoon at the parlors of Layng & Tinney. The services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Winning, pastor of the Methodist church. The parlors of the undertaking company were crowded with sorrowing friends and relatives of the young man, many of them students at the high school.

A quartet consisting of four high school boys, Frank Archibald, Eugene Bone, Leslie Heald and Norman Hollingsworth sang, "Friendship," and Otis M. Carrington sang, "Dear Little Boy of Mine."

Six close friends of the unfortunate boy acted as pallbearers. They were Stanley Netherton, Jr., Hubert Barry, Kenneth Barteaux, Wilbur Hogevoll, Laurence Drivon and Sam Blackman.

Principal A. C. Argo and Mrs. Doss Balcomb of the Sequoia Union High School each paid a well-earned tribute to Wendell Peterson and told of his exceptional ability. The many floral offerings bore testimony to the high standing of the young man in the community, as well as in his school life. Following the services, interment took place in Alta Mesa cemetery.

Wendell Peterson was born 17 years ago in Fillmore, Utah. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Peterson of Spruce street, Atherton, and was a junior in high school. In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Ruth Peterson; and five brothers, Victor, Evan, Eugene, Pardie and Elwin Peterson.

Millbrae Man Gets 100-Day Sentence

Unable to pay a fine of $500 by Justice of the Peace Edward I. McAuliffe for violation of the Wright Act, John Murray, 54, of Millbrae, this week began serving a sentence of 100 days in the county jail. Murray was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Thomas Maloney and Lawrence Neri.

Rancher Jailed For Failure to Provide

Frank Dutra, 42, well-known Halfmoon Bay rancher was being held at the county jail here this week on a charge of failure to provide for his family.

CRUELTY CHARGED IN ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Lilian Price has filed suit for divorce from Stephen Price on the grounds of extreme cruelty. Mrs. Price charges that on two occasons her husband beat her. Price is an employee of the Western Pipe and Steel Co. of South San Francisco, and the couple have made their home in that city. They have one minor child, for whose custody the plaintiff petitions.

The Belmont school was entered by a burglar Tuesday night and completely ransacked. The thief secured $30 in a milk fund left in the teacher's desk. Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the rear of the building.

STATE HIGHWAY BOARD BEGINS ACTION HERE FOR BAYSHORE RIGHTS

Suit on File Here for Condemnation of Property for Extension of Road As far as Redwood City

A suit for the condemnation of a right of way for the Bayshore highway between San Mateo and Redwood City was filed in the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese Wednesday of this week by Harry A. Encell, attorney for the department of public works. The suit names as defendants twenty property owners aong the bay front.

Those named are

Parcel 1. Minerva A. Williams and Pearl Williams, joint tenants, and David S. Wilson, as trustee.

Parcel 2. Thomas J. and Florence E. Swarts.

Parcel 3. East San Mateo Land Company.

Parcel 4. Emma Rose estate.

Parcel 5. B. L. Grow and Clara E. Grow, joint tenants.

Parcel 6. Southern Pacific Co., and claim to title by Emma Rose.

Parcel 7. Leslie California Salt Company.

Parcel 8. John Mitvalsky.

Parcel 9. A. S. Barron, Daniel and Margaret O'Neill, Dave Wismom, Hall C. Ross, and First National Bank.

Parcel 10. Coast Investment Co.

Parcel 11. Thomas and Sarah Pennington.

Parce 12. E. W. McClellan Co.

Parcel 13. Peter J. Severn.

Parcel 14. Ellen Greichen, Katy O'Neill, Matthew O'Neill, Eugene O'Neill and William J. O'Neill.

Parcel 15. Alfred G. Raspadori.

Parcel 16. G. M. Bellotl.

Parcel 17. Hearst Estate, Inc.

Parcel 18. Spring Valley Water Company and Union Trust Company, trustee.

Parce 19. John Roca and Mary Lopes.

Parcel 20. Tacoma Mill Company.

The land sought to be condemned consists of a strip 125 feet wide and about 7½ miles long extending from the present termination of the road in San Mateo to a point in Redwood City near Redwood creek. When this section of the road is completed it will, by use of the Middlefield road, furnish a parallel highway from San Francisco as far south as Mayfield. It will also form a direct connecting link with the Dumbarton bridge by way of the Middlefield road.

The filing of this suit has been expected ever since the Southern Pacific began one afternoon the construction of a mysterious piece of track across the proposed right of way of the Western Pacific's peninsula proposed line and across the proposed route of the Bayshore road.

The highway department admitted that it had been neglectful in tying up this right-of-way sooner, but stated that if the Southern Pacific insists on constructing this short line of track near San Mateo that a grade separation will have to be built.

The construction of the line of track has since been delayed by a court injunction obtained by the Western Pacific Company and one by the city of San Mateo, over whose sewer rights of way the road is being built.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK'S CONTEST

The week of April 14th is National Humane Week, and Redwood City is proud that this year it has its own organized Humane Society and can do its bit toward helping a great cause.

The men and women of Redwood City have responded enthusiastcally to this new call to arms against willful or thoughtless cruelty to, or neglect of domestic animals, birds and wild creatures.

A Junior Branch is being organized in the schools, ensuring the valuable co-operation of the children in the work.

The organization is offering a prize of ten dollars for the best slogan, expressing the aims of the Humane Society. Address answers:

SLOGAN CONTEST,

Care of Dr. O. A. Longley,

All slogans should be mailed before May 1, 1929.

Every resident of Redwood Cty should be a member of its Humane Society. By the payment of the membership fee of only one dollar a year, you can give your support and encouragement to those who are working hard to lessen animal suffering.

If you wish to join, leave your address and one dollar at the Chamber of Commerce and your membership card will be mailed to you.

Remember April 14th to 20th is Humane Week.

Please stand by and help to make the Redwood City Humane Society the biggest and best in California.

PROMOTION CLUB TO HOLD DANCE APRIL 27

A dance will be held at the Episcopal parish house on Clinton street by the Redwood City Promotion Association. Door prizes will be provided. O'Connor's orchestra has been secured and a good time is promised. The arrangements are being made by Charles Ward and Mrs. Miller.

County Bill to Prevent Outside Work by Officers

Several surprises were sprung this week when copies of the county government act of this county, now before the State Legislature, were received and read by county officials. The bill provides an increase in pay for many of the county employees, including the supervisors.

The sections which caused the most surprise, however, were those prohibiting a county official from holding an office with any municipality and that depriving the county clerk of an allowance of 10 cents for each name registered. The former would preclude County Engineer Kneese from holding the position of city engineer, which he does in a number of municipalities of the county.

The bill was introduced into the Assembly by Assemblyman Parkman of this county. It will after being passed by the two houses of the legislature have to be signed by the governor.

Man Jailed Here Wanted in South On Murder Charge

Sheriff J. J. McGrath yesterday received a notice from the Sheriff of San Bernardino county that James V. Meador was wanted in that county for murder and robbery. Meador on the 10 of February was arrested in this county on a charge of reckless driving and was booked at the jail here on that charge.

Fingerprints and a photograph of the man have been sent to the San Bernardino officer for broadcasting throughout the country in an effort to locate the man.

A pecular circumstance of the case is that this is the second time within as many months that a man booked at the jail here for a minor offense has been wanted in San Bernardino county for murder. A few weeks ago Under Sheriff Farrell went to San Bernardino county to testify in the trial of Eugene Howeth who was convicted of having killed his wife's former husband and of shooting his wife. Howeth had previously been in jail here for a Wright act violation.

The message received by Sheriff McGrath stated that Meador killed J. J. Hull, robbed him of his money, a Colt revolver and an automobile.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN FOR NOVELTY DANCE

The Booster Committee of the local Odd Fellows lodge is planning another of their popular dances for the evening of April 27. Arrangements are being made by O. E. Blackington, chairman of the committee. Assisting him are Joe Gibson, A. P. Whitehead, Dr. R. C. Frazier, Frank Bue, Everett Conwell, Milton Legard, C. H. Heffner, Bill Keller, West Mallory and Mervin McArthur.

The plans for the next affair include novelty dances and door prizes, and a balloon dance. Refreshments will be served by the Rebekahs. Admission will be 50 cents.

Tomorrow evening a dance will be given by Court Madrone, Foresters of America at their hall on Middlefield road. Arrangements for the event have been made by Roy Allen.

Well Known People Get License Here

Alexander McCabe, the widely-known political state leader, and Mrs. Edith J. Knight were given a marriage license by County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese yesterday morning. McCabe with boyish backwardness signed his name to the application, while his pretty bride-to-be blushed beautifully in adding her name to the document.

A short time after the issuance of the license, the couple were married at Burlingame by Father Cullen, a friend of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. McCabe will reside in Burlingame, where the former has lived for years.

Alexander McCabe is one of the best known and best beloved political leaders in the state and probably one of the most adroit.

For years he has managed the Hiram Johnson campaigns in the state, and it is said, by those who known, that much of the success of the senator is due to the skillful manner in which these contests were conducted. McCabe had charge of the C. C. Young for governor campaign two years ago. Young was elected and the friends of McCabe had no hestitancy is saying at the time that McCabe's able handling of the bitter campaign had much to do with the election of the governor.

Mrs. McCabe is also well known in political circles. For many years she was the chief deputy for McCabe when he was state insurance commissioner. A few years ago she married Fred Knight, then chief wharfinger for San Francisco. He passed away some time ago. When Young became governor one of his first appointments was that of Mrs. Knight, who was placed in charge of the branch office of the motor vehice department in San Francisco. Mrs. McCabe is a clever and charming young woman with a host of friends in San Francisco and on the peninsula.

The couple have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy wedded life.

Popular Young Lady Married Monday

Mt. Carmel Catholic church was the scene Monday morning of a pretty wedding in which Miss Rosemary Ryan of this city and Barron Yeazell of San Mateo, were the principals. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Cavanaugh, pastor of the church.

Miss Ryan was attended by her sister, Miss Francis Ryan, and William Best acted as best man. Following the ceremony the young people and their friends and relatives enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the Fox Shoppe, after which Mr. and Mrs. Yeazell left on a honeymoon to be spent in Palm Springs and n Arizona.

Mrs. Yeazell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ryan of this city. She is a graduate of the Sequoia Union High School and also of the State Teachers College of San Jose. Lately she has been assisting her father in his drug store here. The bridegroom is a well-known young man of San Mateo and is conected with the Schmidt Lithographing Company of San Francisco.

Upon their return the young couple will make their home in San Carlos Gardens, where a beautiful home has been built for them.

EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

An interesting talk on Europe was given members of the Redwood City Exchange Club at their regular weekly meeting this week by Dr. W. H. Murphy, who recently returned from Vienna, where he had been studying treatment of the eye, ear, nose and throat, for the past year under the leading specialists of the world. Dr. Murphy, a former member of the club, told of the customs of the various countries in which he visited while in Europe, and his talk brought to his listeners a cross section of conditions which exist in the war ridden countries.

Al Sparks, a representative of the California Automobile Association, was welcomed into the club by G. R. Kennedy.

A dance scheduled for May 4 will be held by the club at the Emerald Lake Golf Club. Next Wednesday evening a district meeting of Exchange Clubs of this district will be held at the Hotel Benjamin Franklin in San Mateo.

Mr. and Mrs Philip Bray are receiving the congratulations of their friends upon the birth Wednesday of a baby girl at the Mills Memorial hospital in San Mateo.

BUSINESS LEADERS UNITE FOR TOWN'S BETTERMENT

CO-OPERATION OF ALL IS SOUGHT IN EFFORT

Publicity Campaign on Community Development to Run in Columns of Times-Gazette as Special Feature for One Year

A group of our leading business and professional men have announced their willingness to give their time and money to promote a Campaign for the Greater Development of Redwood City. At the present time Redwood City can be greatly benefited by such a campaign.

Hundreds of towns and cities throughout the United States are awakening their citizens to the possibilities for the expansion of their communities. The competition for growth, and prosperity between towns and cities everywhere is becoming more intensified each day. This severe competition between communities is the fundamental reason why the community development movement is sweeping the entire United States. Aggressive towns and cities are determined to develop and prosper. Their aggressiveness and determination insure that they will succeed, and their success will be achieved at the expense of those communities that have not been awake to their opportunities.

Communities cannot stand still. They must progress and prosper or they will decline and decay. What will be the future of Redwood City? The answer is given by this group of loyal citizens who are making this Greater Development Campaign possible. Redwood Cty will keep in step with progress. Redwood City will grow and prosper.

Co-operation From All

Every resident of Redwood City is interested in its future and will therefore welcome the news of this community building campaign. The ultimate success of any campaign of this kind depends upon two things: First, a thorough knowledge of the fundamental factors that make for a successful community; second, the co-operation of every resident of the community.

Knowledge is power in every endeavor. Successful individuals, and successful corporatons have a superior knowledge in their line of endeavor. Successful communites are those whose citizens possess a thorough knowledge of the principles underlying community success. Fortunately this knowledge is available.

Because of their desire that Redwood City shall become a better place to live in and through their generosity as exemplified by their willingness to help underwrite the cost of the entire campaign, a few of our fellow citizens will make this knowledge available to every resident of Redwood City.

Once each week for the next twelve months, the Times-Gazette will present an illustrated article covering some phase of community development that every citizen should be familiar with. Each week for the next fifty-two weeks some factor of community advancement will be fully discussed, pointing the way to a better and more prosperous Redwood City. The Times-Gazette is proud to be able to present to its readers this epoch making series. It feels that, by so doing, it is rendering another great service, not only to its readers but to the whole community as well.

Knowledge Is Power

The articles that will be presented have been prepared by a corps of authorities who have spent years in the study of community problems—problems such as those facing Redwood City today. Every article is founded upon actual facts secured from the analysis of thousands of communties in every part of the United States.

During the next fifty-two weeks, by means of this Community Development Program, every man, woman and child in this community will enjoy the opportunity of becoming familiar with the success of building qualities essential to the greater development of Redwood City. This will be the most comprehensive program ever presented in this part of the Unted States.

There is not a single activity in the community life of Redwood City that will not be covered in this Greater Development Campaign. Those activities and institutions of Redwood City that stand for progress will be brought to the attention of al, while the weaknesses will also be pointed out so they may be strengthened. Each article will serve as a guide post, pointing the way toward the goal of our desires, a better and bigger Redwood City.

A generation ago a campaign of this nature would have been impossible. At that time, rarely was the development of communities handled on a well organized plan—more often towns and cities merely drifted, some toward prosperity, while others slipped into oblivion. Today, however, community building has become a science. By scientific methods a community can be analyzed, diagnosed in a manner not unlike the physician examines and diagnoses the individual. As the doctor prescribes for the indi-

The Crafton Water Company and other owners of hours in Mill Creek have completed a deal for the purchase from the Southern California Edison Company of the 1200-acre Jackson ranch in Mill Creek Canyon for $25,000. The water company plans to sink two shafts on the property immediately and hopes to get at least 150 inches of water in the flow from these two shafts. It is probable that the cost to Mill Creek water owners for this development will be about $50 assessment for each hour owned. The Crafton Water Company has increased its capital stock from $350,000 to $500,000 to take care of this development and the purchase of more water.

The First National Bank of Clovis, Fresno county, has formed a holding company to take over slow assets consisting of secured and unsecured notes and certain real property heretofore held by the bank. The affiliated company, known as the First National Co. of Clovis, is headed by H. F. Good. It is capitalized at 500 shares preferred and an equal amount of common stock, both of no parity. Working capital is to be provided through issuance and sale of the entire issue of common stock of directors and stockholders of the bank at $20.50 a share. Approval of the sale was announced by the State Corporation Department.

Tulare will have three separate industrial districts under the new zoning plan proposed by R. N. Berryhill, City Manager. Two of the proposed industrial zones would be established in the railroad districts and a third in the southeastern section of the city. A new residential district was also suggested in the plan, which will be submitted for final approval at a later date.

The city of San Diego voted $250,000 bonds to purchase a lighter than air base to be given to the government as a base for navy derigibles.

Four building projects of particular interest to the Southern California cities in which they are located are the $400,000 junior college and high school for Ventura, the $250,000 West Coast theatre for San Bernardino, a $100,000 theatre and store building at Corona and a Congregational church at Burbank. The Ventura institution will rise on a fourteen acre campus at East Main and Catalina streets. A $400,000 bond issue, passed last fall, allows $300,000 for construction of the building and the balance for the site and school equipment.

Chinese pheasants, introduced near Red Bluff as an experiment are rapidly adapting themselves to northern California climate and increasing in numbers. The birds will be protected from hunters for several years.

Rate reductions that will mean $45,000 a year in the electric power bill of agricultural users in territory formerly served by the Coast Valley Gas & Electric Company, but now served by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, were recently announced by the Railroad Commission. The new rates apply to Monterey, Salinas, King City and the Salinas Valley.

University of Arkansas Sets Seven New Records

During the season just past the University of Arkansas team set seven new Southwest conference basket ball records. They are as follows:

Winning a fourth consecutive Southwest conference championship.

Winning 21 consecutive conference games, including all 12 played last year and nine straight victories this season.

A record-breaking total of 156 points made in conference games by Tom Pickell, Razorback center, as the result of 60 field goals and 36 free throws. Pickell's total was made in 11 games.

The highest total of conference field goals made in a single beason—Tom Pickell's 60 baskets.

The highest total number of points made in a single conference game, namely 71 points scored against Baylor university, on January 19. The Razorbacks also broke the previous conference record by amassing 66 points in a game with Texas Christian at Fort Worth on January 9. The record up to that time was 59 points, made by Arkansas against both Texas and Baylor last year.

The best offensive team, the Razorbacks piled up a total of 506 points against their conference opponents in 12 games, an average of 47 points per game.

Pickell, Schoonover and Lambert were named on all-conference teams last season, and all three have again been selected on the all-star selections already named for this year. Pickell, Lambert and Hale, regulars on this year's quintet, will be graduated before the next season rolls around.

Brewers in Training

Manager Jack Lillvelt is watching members of Milwaukee Brewers ball club in training. The club is training for a strenuous season under the new manageress, Miss Killilea, who inherited the club from her father, the late Henry Killilea.

East Approves Changes Made in Gridiron Rules

With only a few dissenting voices, Eastern college coaches raise a loud paen of praise for the changes made in the football rules by the National Football Rules commission.

Most of the coaches, commenting on the changes, confined themselves to the new rule making a fumbled ball recovered by the defensive side dead at the point of recovery.

Coaches favoring the new rule took the position that less of the ball was penalty enough for the fumbling team and that change in the code would make for an even more spectacular form of offense.

The dissenters, and they included such figures as Lou Young of the University of Pennsylvania; Maj. Frank W. Cavanaugh of Fordham; William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, and Larry Bankart, former Dartmouth and Colgate coach, objected to the rule change on the ground that it removed from the game one of its most thrilling plays—the run for touchdown or long gain after recovery of a fumble.

Farrell Ties Mark

Johnny Farrell, national open champion, equaled the course record at St. Augustine to defeat almost single handed the team of Tommy Armour and Gene Sarazen in their annual best ball match with Farrell and his brother, Jimmy. The Farrells won rather handily, 2 and 1.

Johnny Farrell's medal score was 67, a mark set last year by Armour in the same annual match when he and Sarazen won from the team of Farrells.

BASEBALL NOTES

Del Gainer, the old first baseman, has been signed by Baltimore as a coach.

• • •

The Baltimore club has signed Tom Hart, a young catcher, whose home is in Cincinnati.

• • •

Twenty-five of the twenty-nine players signed by the Jersey City club are under twenty-four years of age.

• • •

The Cincinnati Reds are a team of comparative midgets—and it is believed that short men are faster than tall ones.

• • •

Sylvester Simon, third baseman, who was with Fort Wayne last season, has signed with Erie of the Central league.

• • •

No no-hit games were pitched by American league pitchers during the 1927 season. Charley Ruffing got a one-hit contest.

• • •

John McGraw and the New York Giants like San Antonio so well, they've decided to train here for the next three years.

• • •

Grover Cleveland Alexander, now entering his nineteenth season as a major league pitcher, has played under 11 different managers.

• • •

Russell Wrightstone, for many years with the Phillies, will play either first base or the outfield for the Newark Internationals this summer.

• • •

Charley Schmidt, dean of baseball catchers, has had bones broken in his hands 21 times since he broke into the game 21 years ago in the Missouri Valley league.

• • •

The Hagerstown club of the Blue Ridge league has had the suspension lifted on Harry Fisher, the big left-handed pitcher, who jumped the club back in 1927.

• • •

New Haven of the Eastern league has sold Elmer Bowman, veteran first baseman, to the Springfield club of the same circuit. He is known as the Babe Ruth of the league.

• • •

Terre Haute baseball club will issue passes to lady fans next season for $2.50. The tickets will be good for any game except those played on Saturdays and Sundays.

• • •

Earl (Red) Snapp is due to direct the baseball affairs at Sherman in the Lone Star league this year. The veteran organizer and manager held forth at San Angelo in 1928.

• • •

Aaron Ward, former major league infielder, will play with Little Rock in the Southern league this summer. It was from Little Rock that Wa. was sent to the majors many years ago.

• • •

The first home run hit by Babe Ruth in the American league was scored off Pitcher Warhop, of the New York Yankees, May 6, 1915. Ruth was then pitching for the Boston Red Sox.

• • •

There is a chance of the Shreveport team of the Texas league offering a Cuban battery this season. Tuero, the veteran, is the pitcher, while the catcher is Cueto, a youngster.

• • •

The largest crowd that ever saw a baseball game was recently recorded when 85,265 fans saw the double header in New York city between the Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics.

• • •

Jack Powell, a young righthanded pitcher from up in the Northwest county, has been signed by Phoenix of the Arizona State league. He was recommended by Vean Gregg, the old pitcher.

• • •

Ben Tincup, the thirty-five-year-old Oklahoma Indian, is again back in the major leagues after ten years' absence. He was recently purchased by the Cubs from Louisville of the American association.

• • •

Baldomero (Merito) Acosta, of Havana, Cuba, will manage the Dayton (Ohio) baseball team of the Central league recently purchased by the Louisville club of the American association, and will play in the outfield.

• • •

Vic Keen, former big league pitcher, who recently purchased his release from the Houston club of the Texas league, has signed with Baltimore of the International league. Keen was with Rochester until the end of the 1928 season.

HIS LONG CAREER DUE TO SPITTER

Only Thing to Fear Is Overwork, Says Faber.

Convinced that the spitball is responsible for his longevity as a big league pitcher, Red Faber this spring begins his twenty-first year in baseball.

Red believes that the spitter is the easiest of all deliveries on the arm. To prove his point he refers to Jack Quinn and Burleigh Grimes as well as himself. All of them are old enough to be the fathers of some of the present big league players.

"The only thing you have to watch about the spitter," Red said, "is not to go on the hill too often. Just take the old regular turn and everything is okeh, but try to work out of turn and the arm quits functioning."

Red believes overwork cut short the career of Big Ed Walsh, one of the greatest exponents of the spitter.

"Everybody said Walsh's arm quit because the spitter placed too great a burden on it," Faber said. "I believe that what killed Walsh was overwork. One season I tried overwork and was in eight games in nine days. For a time after that my arm seemed gone. Although that's nearly fifteen years ago I haven't tried the same thing since."

Red once experienced a peculiar arm trouble which threatened to cut short his career, but he does not believe the spitball had anything to do with that.

The trouble entered in Red's right elbow, and doctors finally diagnosed it as chipping of the bones. An operation relieved the trouble and Faber came back to pitch more winning baseball even though he then was past what was considered the age-limit for pitchers.

He resorted to the spitball in 1911, when he hurt his arm and virtually lost power to throw a curve. He mastered the delivery in two years at Pueblo and Des Moines in the Western league and reported to the White Sox in 1914.

Relying on the spitter as his major delivery, Red improved his arm until he eventually regained his curve ball and for years he has been one of the most feared pitchers in the league.

Sporting Squibs

Trap-shooters in the United States use upward of 70,000,000 clay pigeons a year.

• • •

Emil Budnitz, former navy star, will coach the University of Baltimore's first lacrosse team.

• • •

William A. "Navy Bill" Ingram will again coach the Naval academy football team in the 1929 season.

• • •

Only a man or two were lost from the Princeton crews of 1928 and Coach Chuck Logg has good material for this year.

• • •

Daniel J. Ferris, Amateur Athletic union official, won more than 200 track trophies and prizes before he hung up his spiked shoes.

• • •

K. O. Billy Edwards, a popular boxer of Savannah, Ga., claims that he has never voluntarily taken a step backward in the ring.

• • •

Stanford will have one of the strongest college tennis teams in the country this year with Johnny Doeg as its outstanding player.

• • •

Emil Hirschfeld, German weight event star, established what is believed to be a new indoor record for the shotput with a heave of 50 feet 9 inches.

• • •

Polo is the most ancient of games played with stick and ball. There have been some 12 varieties of the game in its more than 2,000 years of existence.

• • •

One of the sports which has succumbed to the whirl of time is flying rings, once a popular pastime of which Robert Stoll was champion from 1885 to 1895.

• • •

Marshall Craig of Columbia was elected captain of the 1930 basket ball team of the University of Missouri by the Tiger letter men.

• • •

Gene Tunney, former heavyweight of the world, is fond of poetry, philosophy and drama. He reads and enjoys Shakespeare and Shaw.

• • •

In an effort to further popularize the old Indian game, lacrosse, eastern schools will make efforts to have many of their 1929 games broadcast by their local stations.

POULTRY FACTS

FOOD FOR CHICKS GIVEN BY KAUPP

Mash and Grain Should Be Fed First Nine Weeks.

The 100 chicks with which one will start a poultry flock of 50 hens to be raised, will first need 450 pounds of feed up until the ninth week, and thereafter, for the whole year, the 50 hens selected will need 4,250 pounds of feed.

"The 450 pounds of feed needed for the 100 chicks up until the ninth week should be 250 pounds of mash feed and 200 pounds of grain," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department at the North Carolina State college. "Then when the 50 hens are selected from the lot, these hens will need 50 pounds of grain and 35 pounds of mash per hen for a year. This makes at total of 4,250 pounds of feed that should be provided on the home farm. Of this amount 2,500 pounds is grain feed and may be supplied by 23 bushels of corn, 24 bushels of oats and 13 bushels of wheat. To supply the 1,750 pounds of mash feed also in the ration, the grower should raise 10 bushels of corn and 11 bushels of oats."

Some additional feed will also be needed on the poultry farm for young and growing birds, therefore, Doctor Kaupp says, if the average farm keeping a flock of 50 adult hens will produce for the poultry, 25 bushels of corn, 26 bushels of oats and 15 bushels of wheat, the owner will need to buy only about 400 pounds of fish meal or meat meal, 400 pounds of middlings and 75 pounds of bone meal to have his birds well fed.

Doctor Kaupp has worked out a laying mash and a grain feed which has given excellent results on the experimental poultry farms. The successful farmer who keeps a flock of pure-bred poultry as a side-line should not have to buy his feedstuffs. They can be raised and mixed at home with excellent results, declares Doctor Kaupp.

Delouse Setter Before Putting Her on Eggs

Before you set any hen not known to be absolutely free of lice, give her some sort of treatment to destroy lice and then see that the nest is clean, with fresh nest material. The nicotine sulphate treatment recently discovered is one of the easiest ways to delouse a setting hen. Paint a few dabs of it in the bottom of a box just large enough for the hen to sit in, and put her in it over night. It will not deter her from setting but it will destroy all living lice. Now use a bit of blue ointment in the region below the vent where lice breed and there will be no lice problem when chicks hatch. If a lousy hen is just about ready to hatch, paint the nicotine sulphate generously in a box that has been warmed to promote rapid evaporation of the fumes, and put the hen in for an hour, covering her eggs with warm flannel in the meantime. Use the blue ointment also to get the nits that may hatch.

There are other ways of delousing which takes more time. Whatever is used, do it before the chicks hatch and avoid the troubles that lice bring.

Poultry Hints

Liquid skim milk is "great stuff" for chicks. Look out for substitutes.

• • •

Buckwheat is often used in the scratch feed. It is high in fiber, although not as high as oats.

• • •

Trap nesting is the only sure way to get an exact record of a bird or flock production, but it is hard work.

• • •

According to experience it is not necessary to feed cracked corn when good whole corn can be raised or purchased.

• • •

In addition to the mash, the hens should be given all the grain they can eat, especially in the afternoon before roosting time.

• • •

It is a mistake to crowd 200 pullets into a house 100 feet long. From 3½ to 4 square feet of floor space should be allowed each bird.

• • •

Wheat screenings should never be used if musty, smutty or heated because it may have a bad effect on the digestive tract of the fowl.

• • •

By trap nesting you are sure to select your best layers and by breeding from them, provided they are of good standard requirements, you can soon increase your flock average.

• • •

Poultrymen should be on the alert for the appearance of roup or chicken-pox in their flock. Flock owners cannot afford to have their flocks thrown out of production at the season of high prices.

• • •

From ten days to two weeks after mating, hatching eggs may be saved. The care of the eggs while holding may influence in no little manner the success of the hatch. Eggs should be held in a dry room at a temperature to 55 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit and turned at least once each day.

• • •

Don't try to raise chickens and turkeys together. If you want to raise both move your turkey coops out away from chicken coops and houses. Mites, fleas and lice are deadly enemies to little turkeys.

• • •

If it is necessary to change males heading a poultry flock during the breeding season, one must wait for a period of three weeks in order to make sure that all eggs are fertilized by the new males. After ten days, over 95 per cent of the chicks will be the offspring of the new males.

"Laundry" for Pets

Wapakoneta, Ohio.—A dog laundry is a somewhat new and novel business but two young boys of twelve and a pretty little titian-haired girl of ten successfully inaugurated such an enterprise, and already can look back on a month of actual operation of cleaning dogs and cats at a profit.

The partners in what is probably Ohio's most unique and unusual business, Charles Fleming, Jr., Fenton Hamilton, and Margaret Hamilton, sat back in their "office" here and discussed with all the nonchalance of seasoned business leaders their occupation.

The firm is known as "Fleming, Hamilton & Company, specialists in rejuvenation and renovating the soiled coats of cats and dogs, mongrel or pedigreed."

Their place of business is in the basement of the Hamilton residence, which is accessible by means of a flight of steps leading off the street. At the head of the steps hangs a neat shingle with the inscription "Dog beauty shop. Prices to fit the pocketbook of any dog or cat, large or small, big and fat, scrawny or otherwise," daubed in approved advertising fashion.

On the wall, inside the "office," hangs another sign, written neatly and plainly to catch the eye of the prospective client. It reads:

Tan dogs washed—20 cents.
Black dogs washed—20 cents.
Spotted dogs washed—25 cents.
Curly-haired dogs washed—20 cents extra.

Burrs and chewing-gum wads, the bane of all well-groomed and dapper doggish "beau brummels," get the special attention of the trio of dog beautifiers.

The pet cleaners assert on their price lists that dogs and cats committed to their care will receive "kind treatment, and no soap in their eyes." For 10 cents extra the pets will be called for and delivered.

The company is extremely versatile in their methods of conducting the business. Certain feats of beautification can be executed "for a consideration," according to one of the numerous signs or price lists decorating the walls.

Suppose you want the dog's tail curled, with perhaps a little kink here and there in the hair. The firm will put a permanent wave in the tail or hair—how permanent has not yet been demonstrated — "guaranteed not to fade," the sign reads.

Indian Census

Washington.—Counting Indians may sound like a simple occupation, but Miss Rachel Jenss, who has tagged 50,000 Navahos for their great white father in Washington, found there was a trick in it.

She just has completed a census of the chiefs, medicine men, squaws, papooses—all the Indians on the Navaho reservation in northern Arizona, Utah, Colorado and New Mexico, for the Indian bureau of the Interior department.

"When I started," she said, "I walked miles and miles on roads along the canyons and—I couldn't find an Indian! I had white guides.

"Then I thought of getting an Indian guide, and when I did I found that previously I had been walking past and over Indians all the time. The Navaho guides took me down the canyons and into the recesses of the hills, and there we found large groups whose presence could not even be suspected from the upper trails."

The census was made in the absence of birth certificates in the tribes. The Navaho reservation contains vast stores of undeveloped wealth, and the Indian bureau wanted to establish rolls of the tribe in order that, when the question of property rights arose, there would be no doubt as to the identity of members of the tribe.

Miss Jenss, a native of Michigan and a statistician trained at Vassar college, was in charge of the entire undertaking. She obtained two names of each Indian—his native name and the English one—and the age, sex, tribe, degree of native blood and family relationships. Miss Jenss is now engaged in making a similar census of the Papago and Pima tribes in Arizona. She has a staff of white and English guides working at Indian bureau centers. One of her headquarters is the famous old San Xavier mission near Tucson.

Tourists Use "Fort"

Fort Wilkins, Mich.—The unprotected borders of the United States and Canada, an oft-cited example that two peoples can live in peace, revives the story of Fort Wilkins, the last army post on the northern boundary line.

Not since its garrison marched away shortly after the Civil war have its confines echoed to martial tread. It now is a state park, and tourists camp beneath its trees, where sentries alert for the war cry of Indian braves once walked their posts.

Just a cannon shot away, across the water of Lake Superior, is the imaginary line separating Canada from the United States.

Never once in the life of the old fort was a gun fired from its confines in hostility. Fort Wilkins was established in 1844, temporarily abandoned in 1846, reoccupied in 1869 and finally deserted in 1870.

The post was built at the end of Michigan's thumb, the Keweenaw peninsula, as a protection to early copper miners and settlers against Indian aggression. There, too, lurked in the minds of officials that the United States some day might need to defend its northern frontier.

The first garrisoned troops, who built the post, hewed the logs from virgin timber. Later the buildings were clapboarded and when the state took over the post the fort was well preserved.

Protecting the inclosure on the north and east was a stockade of posts, fastened with hand-made wooden pegs. Lake Fanny Hooe provided protection on the south side, and there was a rapidly flowing stream on the west.

The post, although somewhat modernized by the summer's flow of motorists, remains a page out of the past in the industrialized present of Michigan's copper country.

Chew of Tobacco Solves Mystery of Burglaries

York, Neb.—A chew from a plug of tobacco was the undoing here of Leon Hudson and led officers to the discovery of the perpetrator of more than forty burglaries in and near York county during January and February. Hudson had been arrested as a suspect.

The burglar apparently had worked with gloves, as no finger prints were found, and the only clews left were footprints and a plug of tobacco from which a bite had been taken, leaving a perfect imprint of teeth.

The sheriff at Aurora played cards with a number of prisoners and invited all to "have a chew." Hudson was the only one to accept and his teeth prints were found to be like those in the state's exhibit. He later made a confession to all burglaries of which he had been suspected.

PLADNER GIVEN HONOR

The International Boxing union, ruling body of the sport in Europe, sent a cablegram to the New York State Athletic commission stating that it had named Spider Pladner world's flyweight champion on the strength of the French boy's victory over Frankie Genaro of New York.

Pladner had previously knocked out Johnny Hill, English champion, and had outpointed Izzy Schwartz, recognized as the champion in New York state.

Some Are That Dumb

Bordeaux, France.—A man hailed Jules Durand, taxi driver, and engaged him to go to Bergerac, 50 miles distant. Thinking the "fare" was aboard, Durand drove to Bergerac, where he found that the man had never got into his cab. He's trying to collect, but it's difficult.

Learning to Do Without Things

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Bennett has a large tract of land in the rocky hilly timber lands of northern Mississippi, and one of his agricultural neighbors is a native Mississippian with a family of ten children. Forty acres of the two hundred and forty acres of rocks and pine trees which he owns are in meager cultivation. He and his wife and ten children occupy a shack of four rooms, and together they manage to eke out a fairly comfortable and contented existence. The little ledges of hillside which with unremitting toil the mountaineer has terraced and fertilized grows a little spindling corn, and toothsome sweet potatoes. A few lean hogs pick up a living among the roots and nuts and thin grass of the uncleared forest. There are chickens and dogs, of course, and a mule or two and a couple of cows about the barnyard, and a patch of hay land along the creek bottom. Forty acres at best is not much for twelve people to live upon even when the soil is fertile, but there is corn bread and bacon and potatoes and occasionally a few hogs or a steer and a dozen or two of eggs to carry down to the village to replenish the clothing which will wear out, and to get a little sugar and salt and tea to add to or to season the bill of fare.

"How do you ever manage to bring up so large a family and to exist on a place like this?" Bennett asked his neighbor one day when he looked over the rocky unfertile hillside.

"Wall," his neighbor drawled slowly, "it's mostly in learnin' to do with out things."

The greatest cause these days of discontentment and restlessness is the fact that people have not learned to do without things. I traveled across the continent not long ago from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and I saw all sorts and conditions of men and excepting when they were engaged in dirty manual work and sometimes even then, I did not see a single pair of cotton stockings. Every one wears silk stockings these days, even the poor people have cars and radios and fur coats, and having these things are unhappy because some of the neighbors have even finer ones than they can themselves afford, and they haven't learned to do without the things they want.

Mrs. Crane is a widow of very slender means who is working hard to earn enough money to send her young son to college. Young Crane is not working so hard as his mother though he is far better dressed than she is. He has a little car of his own, and as soon as the nights in the fall grow chilly he slips into a fur coat.

"How did you happen to buy him the coat?" I asked the mother.

"Most of the other fellows have them," she explained, "and John was unhappy and made me more so until he got one."

He hadn't learned to do without things.

Russia Draws Many Workers From U. S.

Riga, Latvia.—Consular officials in Riga estimate that 30,000 former residents of the United States are living in Soviet Russia.

Every month more enter and others come out, while many of those who remain bombard the American consulate, across the frontier in Riga, with letters pleading for papers that would permit them to return to America.

Most of the thousands who have gone into Russia since the revolution, looking for a worker's earthly paradise, are living in small towns, communes and villages.

They are brought to Riga by steamship companies in large parties and sent into Russia from here. Each immigrant is obliged on entering a red commune to have a minimum capital of $500 and to surrender his American passport before entering the new world that Lenin created.

The Blue Sky

Instead of the sky being blue it is really the air that is blue and the color we see is reflected from only a few miles away. The blue in the sky is only the reflection of the blue rays from the sun. The nearer the equator, the bluer the sky because the sun at that latitude is relatively brighter.

Good Schools Mean Earning Power

FINDINGS of the U. S. Army Intelligence Tests give authoritative data whereby the States may be compared with one another as to the general intelligence of the adult male population.

States that had good school systems in 1900 made high scores in the Army Intelligence Tests. How each one is the cause of the other may be disputed, but that there is some relationship few would deny. The five States with the best schools in 1900 made an average score of 73.3 on the Army Tests. The five states with the poorest schools made an average score of 43.9. This is a difference of nearly 30 points.

Men making scores of 73 in the Army Tests were classified as having "average intelligence." Men making scores of 44 were put into a lower group designated as "low average intelligence"' In short, the difference between a score of 73 and 44 in the intelligence test was recognized in the Army as a real significant difference.

California stood third in these Army Intelligence Tests, being surpassed by Massachusetts and Washington. It is interesting to note that California's rating in "intelligence" in these tests, 1918, is the same as was that of her "school efficiency" in 1900—that is, third place among forty-eight states.

Workers in the states with good school systems generally receive proportionately higher returns for their work. The average worker's earnings in the five states with the best schools is $994.20. That of the five states with the poorest schools is $516.46, or little more than half as much.

California is near the top of the list in school efficiency. She has nearly the highest average earning power, $978.45. She is only exceeded by New York State, with $1,079.97. The workers in Alabama, a state of poor schools, in 1920 earned only $468.22. The average Californian earns twice as much as the average Alabaman.

People in those states that have maintained the best schools generally have the largest savings accounts. The average amount of the savings account of workers in the five states with the best schools was $378.39. That of the five states with the poorest schools was only $46.44, or less than one eighth of the former Californians had savings-bank accounts averaging $394.49. Mississipians only one-tenth this amount, $39.62.

Not only do the workers earn more in the states that have offered superior educational advantages, but they save a larger proportion of their earnings. The total savings-bank account of workers in the five states with the poorest schools is 9 per cent of what they earn in one year. In the five states with the best schools, it is 39 per cent.

The Necessary Evil

TAXES are a necessary evil. We must have courts, roads, armies, schools and all those things which are a part of society.

It has often been said that the taxpayer has no complaint, that for his tax dollar he gets a generous return. But no matter how true this may be, it is no reason for not protesting against inefficiency and waste.

Modern business is remarkable chiefly because, through sounder economic practices and greater efficiency, it has been able to give more for less money. Government has failed to keep step.

Our local units of government, especially, grow more and more expensive to maintain. Their slightest act entails duplication of effort and waste motion and unnecessary expense. And the taxpayer pays.

Only public protest and public action can raise the standards of government routine to a high state of efficiency and economy. There is too little sound business in modern government.—The Manufacturer.

Cash Premiums For Carefulness

DRIVERS of private passenger automobiles have been offered a real inducement for carefulness in the shape of a very substantial cash premium now allowed by the leading insurance companies, according to an announcement made by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

The new scheme for rewarding and encouraging carefulness is called by the insurance companies, "The New Merit Rating Plan." Under it the driver of a private passenger car will obtain a 10 per cent reduction in his insurance rate for public liability and property damage providing he meets the following conditions:

First: He has owned and operated a private passenger automobile for not less than two years prior to the effective date of the policy.

Second: No private passenger automobile owned by him has been involved in an accident during the two years prior to the effective date of the policy.

Third: His operating license has not been suspended or revoked, he has not been convicted of driving while intoxicated, evading responsibility after an accident, nor guilty of reckless driving during the two years preceding the effective date of the policy.

Fourth: He will keep the brakes and steering gear of his automobile in good working condition and will have them inspected at least semi-annually.

This new rating plan and its conditions will apply to all private passenger cars including those owned and operated by physicians, salesmen, solicitors, collectors, adjustors and investigators.

This new idea has been under consideration for a long period by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters which has begun immediately to file its merit plan in all states. It will become effective in those states as quickly as the rules and regulations of the various state departments of insurance will permit.

Curing the Smoke Evil

ACCORDING to a report by the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh, there are six outstanding ill effects that may be traced to smoke and soot. These are: Decreased resistance to disease, injury to buildings, depreciation of real estate values, increase in cleaning expenses, damage to trees and shrubs and increased lighting expense"

It has been proven that in congested districts the pneumonia ratio is in direct proportion to the amount of smoke. The more smoke, the more pneumonia.

As a result of these findings, smokeless automatic heat is rapidly coming into popularity. Gas and oil fuels are being used in place of raw coal. The city of the future, ridded of the smoke evil, will be far more attractive and healthy than the soot-covered great cities of today.

Great Britain Leads

HOW far our English friends are ahead of us in their interest in animal welfare is evident by the repeated discussions that take place in the British Parliament relative to the protection of animals from cruelty. Imagine our American Congress meeting to concern itself with a bill to guard performing animals from all possibility of ill usage, or a bill to protect horses, or mules or ponies in mines, or a bill to empower a court when imposing a fine upon a man for cruelty to his dog to declare him forbidden for a given length of time to take out another license! Too many of those occupying the Seats of the Mighty among us would deem it beneath their exalted station even to think of such things. Yet what days are wasted by them in speeches over far less important subjects. Even in our state legislatures where such measures would naturally come for action it is too often that they are regarded as too trivial for serious consideration. Steadily, however, we are moving forward. Humane measures are no longer greeted with either indifference or ridicule. They do get a hearing—Our Dumb Animals.

The year 1928 has been characterized as "the year of mergers," but from present indications it will be light in comparison to the combinations to be put together in 1929. Conversations between no less than two dozen corporations engaged in various lines of business are under way.—New York Times.

A PALESTINE CRUISE

By REV. C. A. PARKER

As in Algiers, Tunis comprises the old Arabic quarters, very oriental, and the new French quarter which is quite up to date. Unlike the hilly Algiers, Tunis is on a low plain. This old native city is famous for her bazaars, being more oriental in extent and quality than her neighbor to the west. These bazaar streets are narrow, arched over and dark as well as dirty. They date from the 13th century, yet even now teem with life. Some streets are given wholly to one kind of trade. As for instance, leather goods, silks and woolen apparel for women, etc. There is one street given up to perfumes, including amber rose, jasmine, heliotrope. These perfumes are made in Tunis from flowers grown in that section, and in general a larger part of the goods offered for sale is made on the premises than is made in most other oriental cities of that region. Many articles are literally "made while you wait."

While the Arab quarter of Tunis is strictly Oriental, the French quarter is modern, clean and attractive. It has imposing buildings, good hotels, streets are clean and well lighted. The two sections are separated by the Avenue De La Marine.

There are interesting points in Tunis to visit beside the bazaars, such as the Bey's Palace with its famous banquet hall etc. Of interest is the English church having a memorial window to Payne, author of "Home Sweet Home." Payne died in Tunis in 1852, while serving as American Consul. Later his body was taken to his native land. There are the usual number of mosques in Tunis, but no unbeliever is allowed to enter. We saw many donkeys heavily laden with men sitting on top. We were solicited by venders and by beggars to whom very few of us responded.

Old Carthage is ten miles south of Tunis. We were taken there by auto. As is well known, Carthage was a great city of antiquity, contending with ancient Rome for supremacy; now only ruins. Carthage was founded in 800 B. C. by Phoenicians. Tradition says they came by sea under the leadership of Dido, who afterward became their queen. In time, Carthage became the greatest maritime power the world had seen through all her years. She first fought with Greece, then with Rome. In her 3d war with Rome—called Punic wars—she was completely vanquished; the great, proud city, a million people at her zenith, was completely destroyed in 146 B. C. her streets ploughed up and a cursed placed upon her site.

After 24 years Caeser started to rebuild Carthage and Augustus completed it. The city grew and flourished until it was taken by the Vandals in 439 A. D. At Carthage, in these days of prosperity, dwelt many of the great men of early Christianity; Tertullion, Cyprian and others. The See of Carthage contained nearly 300 Christian churches; all now remaining of this is the ruins of a church edifice which was of immense size, with nine naves, and floors literally paved with Christian epitahs. We visited the great Roman aqueduct, an immense cave-like place, the theatre, the amphitheatre where Christians were fed alive to wild beasts, the museum, where many unearthed fragments were seen, and the place where extensive excavations have been made, not yet completed. It was all intensely interesting, and we picked up bits of this and that as relics to carry home with us.

Twelve hours of sailing from Tunis brings us to the island of Malta. It is 11 miles long, eight miles wide, and lies 56 miles in a southerly direction from Sicily. Malta belongs to England, and because of its strategic position, halfway between Gibraltar and Suez, it is called "England's eye" in the Mediterranean. The fortifications in Valetta, the largest city on the island, are said to be second to none in the British possessions.

It is not Maltese cats nor Maltese crosses that have given the island its fame, but rather the Knights of Malta who were known as the Knights of Saint John, when they came here in 1850 from the island of Rhodes. The Knights, by their deeds of valor in war made Malta one of the bulwarks of Christianity. It was the Grand Master of the order, Jean de Valetta, who founded and and fortified the city that bears his name.

These Knights, after a time, forgot their vows of chastity and their championship of Divine truth, under the influence of wealth and luxury, and became degenerate. In 1800 Malta was taken by Napoleon, who gave a pledge to respect life and property, but disregarded it as soon as made. That same year the Maltese people rebelled, and assisted by the English, regained their independence. Since that time the island has been under English domination.

Arriving in Valetta early in the morning, a party of us were driven by auto to St. Paul's Bay, at the north end of the island. This is where Paul was shipwrecked as he was being taken a prisoner to Rome. It is a narrow bay extending back a quarter of a mile into the land. The island is very rocky with high stone walls, protecting the vegetation from the high winds that blow nearly all the time. We passed a church said to have the third largest dome in the world, and also a shrine or monument marking the spot where Paul sat down to rest in his walk over the island.

The absence of snakes from the island is explained by a legend; namely that Paul put a curse upon them when he was on the island. It is related that Barbary pirates brought some snakes there to prove the falsity of the legend, but that they all died.

Valetta is a city of 80,000 population situated on a promontory, surrounded by strong fortifications. It has an inner and an outer harbor of considerable size and has many beautiful buildings. One of them is the opera house, where Patti made her debut, for which she was paid five pounds—about twenty dollars.

The most noted building in Valetta is the Church of Saint John, said to be one of the most remarkable in all Europe. It contains the tombs of the Grand Masters and 400 marble memorials to its knightly dead; with other curious emblems of heraldry. Here also is a large painting of the beheading of John the Baptist, and a marble statute of John baptizing Christ.

The people of Malta are a mixture of the various conquerors of the Island, from the Phoencians, down to the Arabs.

The climate is mild, the soil, more or less barren by nature, but the salubrious climate allows two or three crops a year. Malta is the most densely populated island anywhere in the Mediterranean. There is an average of more than 2,300 people to the square mile, beside the many British soldiers stationed there.

From Malta we sailed for Athens. My next notes will deal with that city.

The Bank and How To Use It

One ambitious banking student has described foreign and domestic exchange as "outside stuff." The definition may take in more territory than the particuar function that it defines, perhaps, but in every other way it fits.

The transfer of money by telegraph, cable and mail; the issuance of cashier's checks and drafts against other banks; the issuance of travelers checks and letters of credit and the receipt and honoring of such obligations, constitute the chief functions of exchange as they affect the average customer. The system employed in the handling of foreign exchange is somewhat more complicated than that employed in the handling of domestic exchange because of coin and currency differences, but the mechanisms of both have been so highly developed that they work with equal ease.

A great deal is heard a these days about "correspondent banks." The exchange customer quickly realizes the vital part that these banks play, for without them the present ease and simplicity of exchange transactions would be impossible. For instance, the Bank of Italy has a correspondent bank in Chicago with which it keeps a standing account. A customer of the Bank of Italy in Hollister desires to remit $50 or $100 to a friend, relative, or firm in Chicago. He deposits the amount, plus transmission charges, with the Exchange Department.

The Chicago correspondent is advised by wire or mail to make the payment, which it does from the Bank of Italy account on its books. The amount deposited with the Bank of Italy exchange department by the customer is therefore credited to the account of the Chicago bank, as the Bank of Italy is its correspondent in San Francisco. No money has been shipped or has left either bank until payment of the draft is made. No chances have been taken. Still, all parties have been satisfied in a transaction that might have taken but a few minutes. Speed, simplicity, service are the other names for exchange.

The primary foreign exchange transaction works the same way. The Hollister man sends $50 to his mother in Stockholm, for instance. The request for payment is made on the Stockholm correspondent by telegraph and cable or through a draft in the mails, the sending bank previously having been paid the transmission charges plus the existing exchange rate.

It is usually arranged to have the draft made out in the coin or currency of the country to which it is sent. This does away with the necessity of having to pay any exchange rate for converting the money at the point where the draft is honored. It is not always possible, however, to do this with some type of draft, such as travelers checks, as they may be cashed in many different countries.

The customer who obtains a draft for payment in a foreign country should remember that he will save money if he has the draft cashed in the city where the correspondent bank is located. If it is necessary for such correspondent to arrange for the cashing or delivery of the draft at some point distant from its place of business, it naturally must charge for such service.

The customer who is traveling, and who wishes a supply of the coin or currency of the countries to which he is going, may be accommodated at the Exchange department. He may have his domestic money converted into the money that he desires, the bank charging only the usual conversion rate. This accommodation is not often asked for, however, as it is much more convenient to carry paper, particularly in the case of travelers checks, this paper is non-negotiable, if stolen. The department will also purchase foreign currencies and coins the same as it purchases foreign checks and drafts and will issue foreign money orders.

There are many features of exchange which, although interesting, touch the banking customer only indirectly. The operations of the exchange market, in which the moneys of the world are bought and sold, are in every way as exciting as the activities of the stock market. The balance of trade, whereby proper ratios are maintained between exports and imports on the one hand and money payments, shipments and balances on the other, is a vital but more or less detached issue. The chief interest of the exchange customer is to get his personal or mercantile payment transferred from place to place as quickly as possible, at a minimum of risk and at the lowest possible rate, and the highly developed processes of exchange make all this possible for him.

Large Sums Being Spent in Dredging Industrial Project

The Belle Haven Company is expending the sum of one thousand dollars a day in developing its property along the low lands of the Sweeny ranch and the bay portion of the holding. Large sloughs are being widened and deepened to permit large crafts to dock there. It is said the concern expects to spend two million dollars on the project. When the work planned is completed the best industrial sites in the country will be available. It is rumored that as many as twenty manufacturing concerns from the east have spoken for sites, among them a large hardwood company that will employ hundreds of men on their proposed plant to be established there. Furniture is to be manufactured from the hardwood brought from the Philippines and Oregon.

It was hinted yesterday that a big automobile concern from Detroit was to locate there.

The Belle Haven Company is a large eastern combination that had its experts investigate the territory from Seattle to Mexico with a view of establishing a large industrial center on the coast for the manufacturers of the east who contemplate moving to the Pacific Coast in order to be closer to the big population of the Orient that is using our products more now than ever in the past and after a thorough search and investigation concluded that the peninsula was the best location. The concern has purchased thousands of acres of marsh land and is seeking more in this vicinity.

School Burglar Again in Town

The Lincoln school on Whipple avenue was broken into Wednesday night, aparently by the same burglar who has victimized schools throughout the pennsula Entrance was gained by breaking a rear window.

Later the same person is believed to have entered the new Christian Science church on Brewster street by the same means. Little damage was done, the loss from both places being only about 5.00.

Both burglaries were investigated by Chief of Police Collins and Sargeant Stanley Woods.

The Greater Redwood City Improvement Association will hold a whist party tomorrow evening in the Redwood City Womens Club house on Clinton street. Playing will begin at 8:30. Good prizes have been secured. Admission will be 25 cents.

2nd ANNIVERSARY

FINAL TWO DAYS

Our Anniversary Sale Ends Tomorrow—Open House Week at the Mutual Plant Continues Through Sunday Evening

Today and tomorrow are the final days of our great Anniversary Sale. To enable all of our customers to participate in this week's savings, all stores have been re-stocked with sale goods; and many additional "specials," including butter and preserves, have been added to the list for Friday and Saturday.

Open house at the Mutual Building continues, too, until Sunday evening. If you have not already done so, be sure to visit the plant tonight or tomorrow night, or any time Sunday. Don't fail to see the immense building required to supply the 100 Mutual Stores in San Francisco with fine, fresh food products.

Answer Filed In San Mateo Suit Against S. P. Co.

R. R. Charges That City's Action Is Unlawful

An answer to the charges of the City of San Mateo was filed this week by the Southern Pacific railroad company. The charges by the city resulted from the construction of a spur track by the Southern Pacific in the Emma Rose tract near San Mateo. It was charged that the railroad company had crossed rights of way held by San Mateo for sewer purposes.

Included in the answer to the charges as filed in the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese this week are affidavits of W. H. Kishbride, engineer of maintenance of way of the Southern Pacific and of J. D. Matthews, assistant engineer. These state that construction work of the railroad does not prevent the free use of the land for sewer rights of way, and states that in many instances sewers and drainage systems are crossed by the rail lines.

A counter claim is made by the railroad company in which it is charged that the city of San Mateo had unlawfully extended a sewer across a right of way secured by the Southern Pacific from the Emma Rose estate.

Surprise Sprung In Will Contest

Miss McDonald Asks Compromise of Estate

The will contest filed by Miss Elizabeth McDonald in the settlement of the estate of her brother, the late John McDonald, was this week compromised. A settlement of the controversy was reached Wednesday when the contestant agreed to accept half of the estate and drop the citation which had been issued. The compromise came as a surprise as Judge Buck had recently declared Miss McDonald to be the rightful heir to the property in opposition to the claim of Henry Hebbring, long-time friend of the deceased.

It is stated that the compromise was sought by Miss McDonald due to her need for the money and lack of funds with which to continue the case.

McDonald was burned to death on September 6, 1926, in his Pescadero cabin under mysterious circumstances. The last man to see him was Henry Hebbring, a man who had been his friend and companion ever since the days of the Klondyke gold boom. The will which Hebbring later filed and which left the McDonald ranch, valued at about $20,000 to him, was made out by James Montgomery, an Oakand attorney, and an old friend of both men. In declaring this will void, Judge Buck said, "This is not the will of John McDonald. It is the will of James Montgomery. Judgement is for the contestant on both counts, undue influence and unsoundness of mind."

McDonald had lived as a sort of recluse on his coastside property for many years. He was well known and this together with the peculiar circumstances of his death have made the contest of his will a matter of interest since that document was filed.

Hillsborough To Decide on Clark Tract Exclusion

A special electon will be held tomorrow in Hillsborough, at which time the voters of that city will decide whether or not the property of Mrs. Cecelia Tobin Clark shall be excluded from the millionaire colony. The Clark property, one of the last remaining large estates on the highway is to go the way of so many of the large tracts in the past and will be subdivided and placed on the market as a business and residence tract.

Hillsborough, interested in maintaining its aristocratic character, is anxous to get rid of this tract before the subdivision takes place. Practically no opposition is expected at the election tomorrow.

Two Arrested For Intoxication By San Carlos Cops

Chief of Police Edward Wheeler of San Carlos late Monday night arrested Bob McCann, 27, a salesman of San Francisco and William Grunney, 40, also a salesman of San Francisco. McCann is charged with reckless driving, driving while drunk, illegal possession of liquor and of illegal transportation of liquor. Grunney is charged with intoxication. The men were booked at the county jail by Wheeler pending their appearance before City Judge Albert Mansfield of San Carlos.

The Misses Janett Becker, Claire Foley, Bernice Schow, Marie O'Connell and Margaret Matthews, all teachers in the Redwood City schools spen the week-end in the Yosemite Valley.

Charles Lambert Opening Office In Redwood City

Well-Known Realtor Establishes New Business

An office has been opened at 13 Broadway by Charles G. Lambert, late of the well-known realty firm of Lambert & Walter. Lambert is one of the best known realtors of the state. He has been continuously in the real estate business here since 1904, when he came to Redwood City to take charge of the Redwood City Realty Company, having previously been engaged for two years in the real estate business in Belmont.

For 15 years Lambert continued as manager of the Redwood City Realty Company, and then entered into partnership with Dave L. Walter. He continued to represent the Redwood City Realty Co., the concern which placed Wellesley Park on the market as well as Menlo Grove in Menlo Park, Portola Park at Woodside and a number of other tracts throughout the state. The partnership with Walter was dissolved near the end of last year.

Lambert has to his credit many notable achievement in Redwood City. He promoted the Hotel Sequoia, organized the Edgewood Park Company, was first president of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, was a member of the board of freeholders which drafted the new charter for Redwood City, was selected by Judge George H. Buck during the war to serve as chairman of the County Counoy of Defense. He organized and captained the 30th Company California Military Reserve all during the war, and was during the entire war period a four minute man, for which service he received a personal letter from President Wilson.

He is at present director and member of the executive committee of both the First National Bank and of the San Mateo County Savings Bank, is president of the Edgewood Park Company, secretary-manager of the Redwood City Realty Company and secretary of the Redwood City Hotel Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holt and Mr. and Mrs. William Curran were in Richmond last Saturday to attend the district officers meeting of Lions Cubs. Holt and Curran were delegates from the Redwood City Lions Club.

REAL ESTATE FACTS

Property Owner Accountable If Tenant Turns Bootlegger

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the National Association of Real Estate Boards to be published weekly in this newspaper for the information of its readers on real estate matters.

Any violation of the prohibition law on the part of the renter can immediately cancel his lease even if there is nothing in it to that effect, because this provision is in the Volstead Act, points out the National Association of Real Estate Boards in its weekly lesson on subjects having to do with the land

Does the property owner have to enforce the prohibition laws, asks the Association. "Yes," says its general counsel, Nathan William MacChesney of Chicago. "The law expects the owner of property to know if a tenant makes moonshine in his cellar or sells liquor in his parlor and the discretion of local courts may padlock private dwellings even if the owner did not know what was going on.

"The law expects property owners to watch over their holdings so far as the Volstead Act is concerned. The Act endeavors to help owners in this situation by a clause that is little known, under which lessors are empowered to compel forfeiture of leases when this law is broken."

How Law Operates

In any violation of the prohibition law two actions can be taken, points out General MacChesney. "A criminal action can be brought against the person guilty of the violation on the basis that he committed a nuisance and a civil case can be brought against the property itself. Whether one or both of these actions is taken lies in the jurisdiction of the local courts. And in either instance, both the owner of the property who may not have actually known of the violation of the law and the renter who did are held jointly accountable.

"Although the law provides that structures in which such violations occur may, in the discretion of the local courts, be padlocked for a year, the Act also gives the courts some latitude in this connection and permits them, also at their discretion, to allow such properties to be occupied under bond and also under the condition that liquor will not be manufactured or sold in them from that time on.

"The law deals harshly with a person who has knowledge that liquor is being manufactured or sold on his premises by a tenant and has taken no steps to stop it; then, says the Volstead Act, '. . . . . such room, house, buildings, boat, vehicle, structure, or place shall be subject to a lien for and may be sold to pay all fines and costs assessed against the person guilty of such nuisance for such violation, and any such lien may be enforced by action in any court having jurisdiction. In such a case the owner might lose his property for the payment of fines for the violation he condoned on the part of his tenant.

Courts Try To Find Owner

"But happily the law never proceeds in such cases against a rented property without the owner's knowledge if he can be found in the jurisdiction of the courts. Section 39 of the Volstead Act provides that 'in all cases wherein the property of any citizen is proceeded against or wherein a judgment affecting it might be rendered, and the citizen is not the one who in person violated the provisions of the law, summons must be issued in due form and served personally, if said person is to be found within the jurisdiction of the court.'

"But the lessee out of the jurisdiction of the court, say for instance sunning himself on the Riviera and thinking affectionately of the income from his rented properties, is just out of luck should his tenants turn bootleggers. His property can be padlocked in his absence, though it isn't likely that it will be, unless a local judge is particularly mad about the situation. In all events, the law expects the property owner either to remain at home and keep an eye on his tenants or see that some competent agent does so."

Water Transport Brings Industry Clubmen Told

Pacific Coast Due For Phenominal Growth

The development of industry consequent to the proper development of water transportation was the subject of an address Wednesday before the Redwood City Kiwanis Club by Colonel Cornish Bailey of connected with the congress for the past twenty years, and is considered one of the greatest authorities in America on the question of water ways and of industrial development.

In his address Col. Bailey emphasized the economy of water transportation. He gave the illustration of a man with a ton of material to move and one dollar to pay for it. On the average railroad, he said the material could be moved 72 miles, by the average truck line the distance would be 12 miles. By river it could be moved 700 to 800 miles, while on the great lakes it could be moved a distance of 1500 miles.

Col. Bailey stressed the fact that the Pacific Coast has not received its due proportion of federal aid. The port of San Francisco last year, he said, transacted business totaling $1,400,000,000. Since the admission of California to the Union the government has spent on this port about $2,000,000.

The Pacific Coast will be the trade and industrial center of the future, Col. Bailey stated. With foreign trade on the increase, and with the Orient just beginning to awaken to its foreign trade position, San Francisco is due to an unprecedented development. Col. Bailey stated that the peninsula has opportunity to share in this Superi opment. The development harbor here will bring lo rates as well as reduced water transportation. I that although the governm consented to stand half of of dredging a channel 30 when the people of this vici half of the cost, it should be to pay the entire cost of a channel.

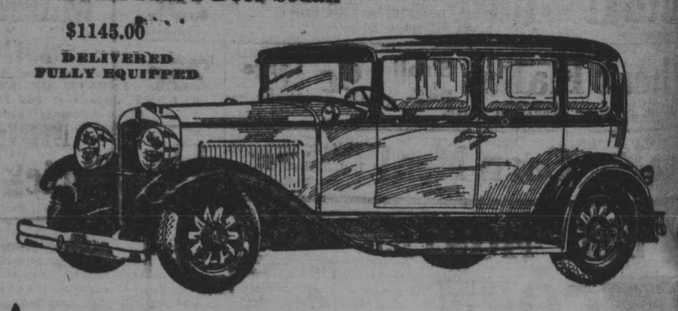
THE RECORD BREAKING NEW NASH "400"

"400" Standard Six 4-Door Sedan

$1145.00 DELIVERED FULLY EQUIPPED



Ask the Salesman this Question

EVERY prospective motor car purchaser should ask every salesman he talks to, this question: "What is the price of this car, delivered to me, fully equipped with all the equipment?"

You should also ask what the difference is between the factory (f. o. b.) price and the delivered price—and then ask what that difference buys.

Heretofore it has been customary for factory prices to cover only the bare car. This permits the dealer to sell you your bumpers and the other accessories, at retail prices.

Nash, in introducing the new "400" Series, pioneered a new practice, by installing this extra equipment at the factory, at no extra cost to you.

When you ask the suggested question you'll find most salesmen (not Nash salesmen) reluctant to answer. They would rather not say how much more there is to pay, or what the extra money buys.

And you'll also find that by reason of the Nash policy, Nash "400" delivered, fully-equipped prices are much lower than those of many other cars with the same factory (f. o. b.) prices, and lower than some cars with even lower factory (f. o. b.) prices.

The New NASH "400"

CAPITOL NEWS BRIEFS

By ESTO BROUGHTON

By ESTO BROUGHTON

SACRAMENTO, April 18—(CNB)—From a towering legislative circus the 1929 Legislature has evolved, today, into a show with the Senate Impeachment Trial the main tent event and the Assembly merely the sideshow, as the second week's sensational development at the trial of Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles involves a complete review of the mysterious Aimee Semple McPherson kidnaping case.

With curious assemblmen enjoying box seats at the hearings on the 2500 "love offering" paid by the evangelist to the silver-haired jurist for alleged legal advice, it has been necessary for the Speaker of the Assembly to constantly invoke a "Call of the House" to secure a quorum to "do business."

Help for the stricken orchardists of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys facing a $50,000,000 crop loss due to the freak April frost is projected today in the Crittenden Resolution under consideration by the Assembly Agricultural Committee.

The inquiry into the situation in the frost devastated country demanded by Assemblyman B. S. Crtenden of Tracy would be conducted by a commsson of four assemblymen and four senators who must report remedal measures by August, 1929.

"It is a public calamity, similar to the Mississippi flood or San Francisco earth-quake so far as financial ruin goes," declared Crittenden. "If no aid is given many of the farmers will be driven from their homes by foreclosure suits and delinquent tax sales, just as surely as though their houses were carried away by flood waters."

The Crittenden bill also calls for a general investigation into the economic problems threatening agricultural prosperity in California, such as high rural credits, unequal taxation and marketing difficulties.

Expressing more pride of authorship that confidence in its orthographic accuracy, the Legislature amended its joint rules to allow the State Printer to correct its spelling but not to improve its English.

The Resolution, sponsored by Assemblyman Isaac Jones, floor leader of the Assembly, provides "it shall be the duty of the State Printer to correct all mis-spelling—but his authorty shall not extend to changes in punctuation, or substitition of words different from the author's copy."

Over the protest of the California Farm Bureaus, the Agricultural Legislative Committee and milk producers from all over the state, the Assembly Committee on Public Health and Quarantine passed out the Crowley Pure Milk bill out-lawing "grade B" milk.

Backed up by public health groups, the assemblymen claimed that if the sale of "grade B" milk was prohibited, dairies would soon raise ther standards to produce only "grade A" milk.

Marriage will not be the same "tie that binds" when the 1929 Legislature gets through with laying down new matrimonial laws, it appears today.

Disposed to make it harder to marry and easier to get unmarried, the marriage proposals to date are:

The Mueller-Rochester bill repealing the interlocutory divorce law, making it possible to get an immediate final decree without waiting a year, recommended "do pass" by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Scofield Eugenic Marriage law requiring a 'good health" oath on the part of the parties about to enter the holy state of matrimony that they are physically fit to marry, which has passed the Assembly and awaits action by the Senate.

Redwood City People Visiting Mutual Building

Many people are making the trip from Redwood City to San Francisco to visit the Mutual Building at 255 Twelfth street, according to Mrs. Helen Harper, manager of the Mutual store at 636 Broadway.

"This is open house week at the Mutual plant," Mrs. Harper stated, "and all departments of the building are open to the public. The bakery, creamery, coffee roasting plant, ice cream refrigerators, warehouses and shops, as well as the offices for the stores in San Francisco and the peninsula are being shown to visitors until Sunday evening, April 21st."

The Mutual plant was built three years ago for the California Baking Company. The chain store company retained the bakery, adding numerous new features, such as a revolving pastry oven, and used waste space in the building for other departments.

Across the bay in Oakland, the Mutual stores maintain another large plant and warehouse building to serve the stores in the East Bay cites.

"John Brown speaking"

Many telephone customers follow the modern style: "I give my own name—at once—and if it is a business call I also give the name of my firm. This establishes my identity."

Such an introduction permits both parties to get down to business without loss of time. And it makes a fine impression.

Do You Know—

COMMUNITIES as "centers of living" are considered so important that scientific research has been directed toward towns and cities to find out why some grow and prosper while others decline? It has been definitely determined that their development or decline takes place because of certain definite causes.

THRU THE study of community development it has been discovered that there are some forty major and three hundred minor factors to be found in Our Community. Any one of these, by functioning improperly, may prove a damaging weakness.

FORTUNATELY, however, there are proven cures and preventives for Community weakness and defect—rules for Community health, happiness and prosperity—just as there are rules for individual health, happiness and prosperity.

Do You WANT to Know—

WHAT THESE vital factors are—where we are strong and where we are dangerously weak? Do you want to know how we compare nationally as a "Living Center" with other towns and cities of our class? Do you want to know how we can be a stronger, more prosperous Community?

We are interested in the subject because we realize the individual as well as the collective well-being of the citizens of this center is involved. We are prepared to present a weekly survey on this page. Will you let us have a personal expression of your interest in this campaign for

DR. CALDWELL'S THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming.

The Doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois.

PICTORIAL GOLF INSTRUCTION

By H. E. MARTIN

Arms and Body Must Follow Club Head in Pivot

IF ONE is not inclined to sway, the pivot best illustrated by our leading experts will get better results. But one must actually pivot and not use the arms in a make-believe. Some golfers do this and believe that they have actually gone through the pivotal motions. The body must turn with the arms, the left knee going out to accommodate the turn of the hip and the raising of the left heel.

The head remains stationary while the eye is looking at the teed ball over the left shoulder. After we pivot to the point where the club is over the right shoulder we have reached the top of the swing. Then we begin to unwind, but not any faster than the club will permit. It must be remembered that the clubhead must lead and the unwinding of the body proceed slowly, never getting in advance of the arms or the clubhead.

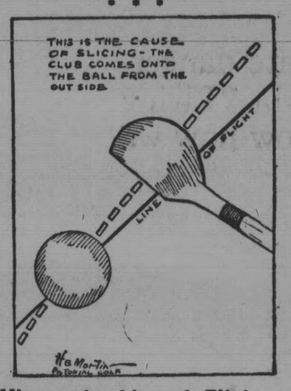
* * *

Right Arm Straightens After the Impact

GEORGE DUNCAN remarked once that there was no such thing in golf as a straight left arm. He insisted that the left bent at least enough at the elbow to make it free and easy.

There is a straight right, however, and this is very decided in every well regulated golf swing. Where there is a real punch there is a straight right. It usually happens just after the impact and marks the end of the follow through. The right is straight from a point just an inch or so after the impact to a point about a foot directly out in front. This supplies the punch and carries the ball away.

* * *



Hit on the Line of Flight to Avoid Slicing

THERE are several causes of slicing, but the club can only act in one way, that is, cut across the ball. There is the line of flight which should be followed if we are to make a perfect shot.

If the player comes onto the ball from the inside of this line it will cause the ball to hook. If he comes onto the ball from the outside of this line it will cause the ball to slice or break abruptly to the right. The degree of slice is determined by the length of the follow through and the angle of the line of flight and the line that the club takes.

MENLO PARK

Exchange Club Signing Menlo Park for Air Traffic

The Exchange Club is having a large sign 9 by 49 feet in size painted on the roof of the Duff and Doyle building for the benefit of aviators passing over the town. This locality is one of the air lanes and numerous airplanes pass over during the day. This sign will tell them the name of the city in their flight. By this means the denizens of the clouds are attracted to Menlo Park. It is well said that to secure a foretaste of heaven one must first live in Menlo Park. The next step will be to get the attention of Oma Ruru, the big eared queen of Mars.

These Ducks Didn't Come Home to Roost

A. E. Thomas, the local real estate operator and capitalist, when at his ranch in Gull Lake, Saskatchewan, Canada, last October banded ten wild ducks. This week he received four returns of the bands. One duck of the lot was shot at Los Banos; another at Galveston, Texas; one at Fort Dodge, Kansas; and a fourth was killed as far south as Chili. Gull lake is where the ducks breed in summer and make their flight to far off countries in the fall and winter months. They are known to fly to territory thousands of miles away. Thomas may never hear of the other six birds.

Whist fans will have an opportunity to demonstrate their finesse in the game next month as two big contests are scheduled for that time. The Corpus Christi Monastery will hold a card party in Native Sons Hall, Palo Alto, on Thursday evening, May 2. A large number of valuable prizes are to be awarded the winners. The Exchange Club will give a whist party on May 15, maybe at their new headquarters in the rear of the office of W. E. Monroe, the real estate broker. Both parties are sure to bring out all the fans in the locality. The fine prizes are the lure.

FORESTERS PLANNING FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The dance which is to be given Saturday night by Court Madrone, Foresters of America, it is said, will be one of the best dances of the year, if present plans of the committee in charge are carried through. The committee which has been making arrangements for this event consists of Roy Allain, chairman, Albert Bullivant, Leland Redmond, Carrol Hinman and Arthur Johnson.

Through the efforts of Al Markgraf, leader of the orchestra, the committee has secured a feature which will please all who attend. The well-known composer Phaendler of San Francisco and a number of radio stars, wil feature his latest song hit, "Wish You Were My Sweetheart." Phaendler will be accompanied by Miss McGahey, Miss Allen and Miss Jacobsen.

Miss Virginia Thompson will assist with her clever singing and her ukelale.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the Franciscans. Tickets are on sale by all members of the order.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL INVESTIGATE NEED OF PUBLIC PLAYGROUND

The need of a public park for Redwood Cty was taken up by the chamber of commerce this week. The need for such a park was the subject of a talk given by Gordon Seely, which met with enthusiastic response from the members. A committee to consider the matter will be appointed by Carl Wagner, president of the organization.

PHONE COMPANY TO SPEND LARGE SUMS ON PENINSULA

The budget of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Compnay for the year 1929 estimates an expenditure of $56,732,000, it was announced this week by L. C. Brown, local manager for the telephone company. "This expenditure," stated Brown, "Will be spent for additions, betterments, and replacements thruout the entire territory, and exceeds our expenditures for the previous year by $16,235,035."

It has been forecast that an expenditure of approximately $272,000,000 will be made for similar purposes during the next five years in the Pacific Coast states in which the company operates.

It was pointed out that the telephone company planned to spend a large portion of this money in the peninsula district, due to the rapid growth that this district is now undergoing. This is evidenced by the large station growth in Redwood City, which has increased the number of subscriber's telephones in service by 12% at the close of the previous year.

The Masonic Club room committee will hold a dance this evening in the Masonic Temple. The committee of which John Layng is chairman, have a number of surprises in store for those who attend.

Walter Arends, quartermaster on the President Van Buren of the Dollar Steamship Co., has been granted a year's leave of absence and is now home on a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Arends of Jefferson street. His recent voyage was his third trip around the world in the service of the Dollar Company.
